

NEXT GENERATION is more than just a line of new products; it represents Jones' renewed commitment to the cleaning industry. Our strategy for the future includes a multi-faceted approach targeting innovative, value-added and performance tested products. We're not just thinking outside of the box, we've thrown it away.

In addition to out-sourced products we will continue to stretch the boundaries for raw material fiber sources and continually challenge our spinning expertise to develop new yarn products. Our primary field of vision will be on the future while meeting the needs of the current ever changing marketplace. The global market requires that products be competitive; however while economy is relevant, we will not diminish our focus on quality.

The floor-care market is in a state of change that demands innovative approaches to insure successful adaptation to evolving business models. Product innovation alone will not provide opportunities for success; so we remain diligent in our resolve to provide unequalled service and support. Our strategy involves developing key alliances that target opportunities with deliberate and measured approaches. We welcome the task of identifying obstacles and working with customer-partners to forge new ground in the cleaning industry.
